FOREWORD

The purpose of this second volume of The Records of Christ Church is the permanent preservation of the vital statistics contained in the parish register.

In 1913 the Legislature of the State of New York enacted a comprehensive measure governing the registration of vital statistics.* This law unified and systematized all previous laws of the State on the same subject. The previous legislation had been sporadic and of comparatively late date. In the colonial period no records of births, marriages and deaths were kept by the towns, cities or counties of New York. The State Board of Health, organized in 1880, issued its first report in 1881. This report describes the unsatisfactory condition of the records of the State and refers to the scattered legislation bearing upon registration, the earliest occurring in 1847.

The City of Poughkeepsie, chartered in 1854, began to keep a record of deaths in 1865. In 1882, following the report made in 1881 by the State Board of Health, books were opened for births and marriages.

The register of the parish of Christ Church was begun in 1766 and thus for the century between 1766 and 1865 it supplies a substantial fraction of the vital statistics which the village and (later) the city of Poughkeepsie failed to record.

These statistics are in frequent demand, partly for legal needs, partly for matters of personal interest. They aid in the establishment of claims to property; in the procurement of pensions, passports and employment-papers; in proving parentage and marriage; in tracing family connections. By their presentation in this volume in alphabetical order their sum total is rendered immediately available, without waste of time and effort in search. All told these entries number:

Baptisms	-	-	-	-	-	4,218
Marriages	-	-	-	-	-	1,163
Deaths and Burials	-	-	-	-	-	4,284
Confirmations	-	-	-	-	-	1,914

In the preparation of this book the editor has received assistance from two sources, without which help the task might never have been brought to completion. Miss Amy Elizabeth Pearce volunteered clerical co-operation in the transcription of the original register and rendered the same with ability. The Hon. Macgrane Coxe, A.M.,

*Laws of 1913. Chapter 619. An Act to amend the public health law, in relation to vital statistics.

grandson of the late Thomas L. Davies of Poughkeepsie (whose life-long and notable membership in the parish of Christ Church is shown in The Records of Christ Church, Volume I, pages 180, 332), made it financially possible to publish the editor's manuscript and, by his firm faith that the book would be of use to the community, gave aid and comfort to the editor during the period of its preparation. The editor wishes to record her gratitude for the sympathetic interest of these friends, which has been consistently maintained through several years and in the face of all discouragements. The work was begun soon after the publication (1911) of Volume I of The Records of Christ Church and it was intended to have it ready for the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the parish in October, 1916. Public and private circumstances combined, however, to postpone its completion until 1919. For moral support and for untrammelled access to the original register the editor is indebted to the rector of the parish, the Rev. Alexander Griswold Cummins, A.M., Litt.D., whose breadth of view in all matters pertaining to Christ Church has helped her greatly in all her work.

A volume such as this is of worth only in so far as it is accurate. Every care has been taken to guard against errors and the editor is confident that it is as nearly a correct transcription of the original as could be made. It is believed by those concerned in its production that it will prove of practical value in many ways. Back of and beyond that belief, however, has been a further impelling motive for its presentation. A desire to perpetuate the memory of the men and women who have builded the parish of Christ Church and who have helped to make its honorable history has inspired and colored all the labor involved. These pages are offered as a tribute to the many who have gone before, who have left to their successors a legacy of high traditions to maintain.

HELEN WILKINSON REYNOLDS

The printing of this book was begun by the Enterprise Publishing Company of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. When it was half done the printing establishment was sold and dismantled. The work was then transferred to and completed by the Hansman & Pralor Company of Poughkeepsie. The change from one press to another occasioned some mechanical difficulties which are more or less evident in the finished volume and this statement is made in explanation of the same. Acknowledgement is also here made of the courtesy and consideration accorded to a peculiarly exacting order by both the firms engaged upon it.

EDITORIAL PREFACE

The entries of baptisms on the register of Christ Church were begun October 19, 1766, and continue to date with but few interruptions. The breaks in continuity coincide with the period of the War of the Revolution and with vacancies in the rectorship of the parish. All but 28 of the 4,218 entries, here presented (which extend to and include October 18, 1916), are arranged by surnames in alphabetical order. The small remainder (appended to the main list) are given chronologically, under the head of "Miscellany."

The form of the entries varies. In early years it was brief, frequently omitting the names of the parents of the person baptized. About the middle of the nineteenth century the custom was begun of making more detailed reports and by 1888 a register was introduced having printed forms to be filled in.

From 1799 to 1805 the Rev. Philander Chase was rector of Christ Church and on September 26, 1801, he instituted a census of the households under his pastoral care. His reasons for this action will be found stated in his own words on pages 321-322 of Volume I of The Records of Christ Church. The list he compiled is included herewith, although it is probable that it is incomplete.

Study of the four volumes of the parish register is repaid by the sidelights thrown upon various phases of the parochial life-story. Prepared, as this book has been, in the years of the Great War, the racial make-up of the congregation is a point of interest.

The group was gathered together originally from American-born individuals of British and Dutch descent. They, and those of their blood who came after them, were welded into a nucleus typically American, which has always been the center and inspiration of a strong and living organism.

Before 1800 three Frenchmen stand out in conspicuous isolation in the parish.—Charles Martin Jean Pierre DeVemont, Richard DeCantillon, Francois Chandonet. They are practically the only French who have been prominent in these annals.

The first noticeable influx of foreign-born occurred in the 1830's and 1840's, when unfavorable economic and industrial conditions in the British Isles brought to the parish a number of English and Protestant Irish families. These were quickly and easily absorbed into the American equivalent of the Churches of England and Ireland.

During the rectorship of the Rev. Henry L. Ziegenfuss, S.T.D., (1875-1894), there was a pronounced accession of German Lutherans. Dr. Ziegenfuss was of German descent ("Pennsylvania Dutch") and had formerly been a Lutheran minister. The German population of Poughkeepsie increased largely in the last quarter of the nineteenth century and through Dr. Ziegenfuss's indefatigable pastoral work many were baptized and confirmed in Christ Church, who have been faithful and devoted parishioners.

A few individuals of the African race have at all times in the course of the parish history been included in its membership. There have been both slaves and free negroes in this number, and they should be mentioned as especially loyal and devoted in the goodly company of the faithful.

Lay assistance in the procurement of candidates for baptism began approximately in the 1840's. The pioneer and leader was undoubtedly Mrs. Thomas L. Davies,—daughter of the Rev. Dr. Reed, the rector. Contemporary with and following Mrs. Davies were—among several—Mrs. Horace Sague, Miss Lydia Ingraham Phinney, Miss Sarah Van Ingen, Miss Mary Allen, Miss Mary A. Hart. In later years such individual service as these women rendered was largely organized and directed through the Sunday School and parochial societies.

The Parish School (in existence 1845-1884) was the source of numerous baptisms and confirmations. Permanency was not, however, a marked quality of the material drawn from this institution.

The pupils of the private boarding schools of Poughkeepsie have formed an interesting feature in the life of Christ Church since the 'thirties. From Cottage Hill Seminary, the Female Academy, the Collegiate Institute for Girls and from College Hill (later Riverview Military Academy), for boys, as, also, from Vassar College, many young people have come, asking for baptism and confirmation.

The successive changes in fashion in given names in the last century and a half are clearly indicated in these pages, especially among those for women. In the eighteenth century there was a noticeable absence of the Old Testament nomenclature which was prevalent in Puritan New England, and names of the class of Ann, Eliza, Jane, Mary, Sarah, etc., were in use. Just before and after 1800, the mothers of the community must have been addicted to fiction-reading, for names of such a flavor as Aninta, Arabella, Belinda, Belpheame, Clarinda, Clarissa and Euphemia were given to the daughters, the usage being carried to a logical conclusion when a child was called "Fanny Burner,"—presumably in honor of Fanny Burney, the author of Evelina. As the nineteenth century wore on, standard names prevailed such as Margaret, Caroline, Elizabeth, Katherine, etc. Within recent years another tendency, paralleling the last mentioned, has shown itself, an instance of the type referred to being "Rowena Pearl."

It will be seen from all this that a book filled with statistics, seemingly dull and dry, may really contain also much of human nature, of humor, of history, of manners and customs. All of which may be found by any who will take the trouble to look for them.

LIST OF HOUSEHOLDS IN 1801

The first bound volume of the parish register of Christ Church was opened in 1801 by the Rev. Philander Chase, rector 1799-1805. Attached to the fly-leaf there are three manuscript records, containing entries from 1766 to 1809. When Mr. Chase assumed the rectorship he considered the parish records in a neglected condition. He, therefore, on September 26, 1801, began to compile a list of the households belonging to Christ Church. The full text of his own account of this action is to be found on pages 321-322 of Volume I of The Records of Christ Church. The list begun by Mr. Chase is presented herewith, although it was obviously never carried out in full.

EDITORIAL PREFACE

Prior to 1796 the rectors of Christ Church kept no record of marriages or, if they did so, all such records have been lost.

The first entry of a marriage which the parish register contains was made in 1796 by the Reverend John Johnson Sayrs, A.M., who held the rectorship from December 25, 1795, to February 14, 1798.

From 1796 to 1916 the custom of entering on the register the record of a marriage was observed by the successive rectors with fairly uniform fidelity but the form of the entries varies widely. In some cases only names and date are given, in others ages, parentage, residence and witnesses appear in full or in part.

The register of marriages, on file at the City Hall, Poughkeepsie, which was begun in 1882, has occasionally been consulted in the preparation of this parochial list in instances where the handwriting was obscure or statistics lacking.

EDITORIAL PREFACE

In the parish of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, the churchyard of the parish property on Market street was used for interments from the time (approximately) that the first church building was erected (1774) until (approximately) the purchase of the "English Burying Ground" at Academy and Montgomery streets in 1828. After 1828 the churchyard was used only occasionally and in 1888 all stones remaining in it were removed to the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

The "English Burying Ground" was used for interments from 1828 until the 'seventies. In 1887 a portion of it was cleared for the erection of the present Christ Church and a number of stones were removed to the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery. What was formerly called the "English Burying Ground" is now known as Christ Church Square. Since the 'seventies parochial interments have as a rule been made in the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

About 1901 a survey was made of Christ Church Square on which is shown the location of all stones remaining on the property at that date. Many of these stones were afterward laid flat and gradually became over-spread with turf. In 1911 the editor copied in full all inscriptions then to be found. While the "Survey List" and Miss Reynolds's list duplicate each other in part, the former contains more names and the latter contains more detailed data. They are both therefore presented for comparison.

Three original sources supply information of the deaths and burials that have occurred in the parish of Christ Church. They are:

Gravestone Inscriptions

1. Stones, ranging in date from 1768 to 1856, removed to the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery from the churchyard on Market street and from the English Burying Ground.
2. Stones, ranging in date from 1805 to 1866, on Christ Church Square.

The Sexton's Record

The Sexton's Record is a volume kept by: Amaziah Blakeslee (1824—1826); Stephen Ferguson (1826—1842); Thomas Eastmead (1842—1845); and Samuel Keynton (1846—1854). The entries begin in 1824 and end in 1851.

It is possible that a second volume of the Sexton's Record once existed, the entries in it being made by Samuel Keynton and William Gibson. If so, it was destroyed. The early sextons were apparently village undertakers and there are entries in this volume which show burials made by them at scattered local points. These entries have been separated into a list by themselves as "Miscellany", in order to keep clear the record of the churchyard and of the English Burying Ground.

The Parish Register

With the exception of a few entries made in 1806—1809, the rectors of Christ Church did not keep a register of burials until 1847. The entries from 1847 to 1916 are here given in full.

The Records of Christ Church

The land of Christ Church on Market street, Poughkeepsie, consisted of a lot approximately seventy feet front by two hundred and eight feet deep, running east from Market street along the line of Church street. The church building stood flush with the lines of the two streets, at the southwest angle of the lot. On Market street, north of the church, there was a large gate in the boundary fence through which to admit funeral processions. Interments were made in the narrow strip of land north of the church and across the whole width of the lot east of the building. Abutting the churchyard on the north, at the eastern end of the north boundary line, was land owned by George B. Evertson, which extended north to Cannon street. The house now occupied by Dr. H. A. Gribbon and known as 24 Cannon street was the home of Mr. Evertson in the early portion of the nineteenth century. Statement of this fact explains the references in the Scorton's Record to interments made in the churchyard "near Evertson's barn."

The English Burying Ground, now known as Christ Church Square, was laid out south of Montgomery street in 1828. It was surrounded by a high picket fence with a gate in the middle of the Montgomery street side. From the gate a driveway ran to the south line of the ground, crossed midway by a drive from east to west, the enclosure being thus divided into four sections. The section in the southeast corner was free ground. The northeast section was the least used of any. The sections (all but the free ground) were laid out in plots, which were numbered from one to (three hundred and fourteen?). The numbering began in the northwest corner, but how it proceeded it is not possible to state positively. Some clue to the plan for it is found in monuments now standing, conspicuous among which are:

The Brewster, in plot No. 2 or No. 3.
The Reed, in plot No. 4.
The Grant, in plot No. 10.
The Wilkinson, in plot No. 10.
The Clark, in plot No. 36 or No. 38.
The Ruggles, in plot No. 57.
The Willoughby, in plot No. 58.
The Gunn (stones), in plot No. 61.
The Newby and Stanwix (stones), in plot No. 93.
The Burritt (stones), in plot No. 140.
The Hoffman, in plot No. 162.

The plots were separated from each other by corner-stones. There were no footpaths between them. Interments were made with heads placed toward Academy street, except in the free ground where they were in both directions.

In the northeast section was the Van Wagenen family plot, surrounded by a heavy iron chain which was swung in loops between iron posts. The Hooker plot, in the northwest section (immediately east of the three Clark monuments, still standing), was set off by an iron fence, the pickets of which had arrow-shaped tips; the gate in this fence was kept locked. General Leonard Maison had a family vault in the northwest section (about in the center, near a large hemlock tree now standing). There was a vault, called Thomas Eastmead's, in the southwest corner of the free ground (see the Scorton's Record for Eastmead, Jones and Warmesley). Another vault, unlocated, is referred to as Josiah Williams's (see Scorton's Record for North).

In the sale of plots the Corporation of Christ Church conveyed to purchasers only the right of interment. Title to the soil and general control of the burying ground remained vested in the Corporation. A few original certificates of the purchase of plots have been preserved and show that the blank form to be filled in at each sale was as follows:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS.

That "The Rector and inhabitants of Poughkeepsie, in communion of the PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH in the State of New York," for and in consideration of the sum of _____, to them now paid, have granted and conveyed, and by these presents do grant and convey unto _____, _____ heirs and assigns forever, the right and privilege of interment in _____ in the New Burying round, situate on the south side of Montgomery street, in the village of Poughkeepsie, subject to such regulations as by the said Corporation may from time to time be prescribed.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF the said Corporation have hereunto caused their corporate seal to be affixed at Poughkeepsie, this _____ day of _____, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and _____.

(Signed)

One of these certificates is now owned by Mrs. Charles H. Roberts of Highland, N. Y., and another by Mrs. George T. Pearce of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. One is for plot No. 225 and the other is for the south half of plot No. 289. The entries in the Scotton's Record show that the sale of half plots was of frequent occurrence. The practise does not seem, however, to have affected the numbering scheme. Twenty-five dollars was the price of a whole plot, twelve and a half of a half plot.

In pursuance of the right of the Corporation to regulate the conduct of the burying ground, the vestry of Christ Church have in recent years laid down many stones and allowed grass to spread. This policy has been adopted in the interests of economy and good general order.

In as much as occasion might some time arise when it would be a matter of importance to determine the location of a particular plot, the editor has provided a cross-index of names and plot-numbers, compiled from the Scotton's Records. To illustrate the use of the same the case of plot No. 225 may be instanced. The index of plot-numbers refers under No. 225 to the names of Carr and Freeman. Under those names the Scotton's Record contains four entries. The Survey of 1991 shows one stone of this group left. This stone (now grassed over) lies near the large sycamore tree on the east side of the north path and thus the location of plot No. 225 is learned with some approach to accuracy.

From November 2, 1853, the date of the opening of the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery, the use of the English Burying Ground steadily declined. The last mention by the parish register of a burial made therein is under date of March 15, 1874. After the middle of the nineteenth century the ground became badly overgrown and, when its use was determined on as a site for the church (built in 1887-1888), it was a wilderness of tall grass, bushes and trees. In the early period of its existence, before it became so thickly overgrown, it was a playground for the children of the neighborhood. One of those children, Eliza DeWitt Dutton, later became Mrs. Stephen P. Forman and in 1912, in her elder years, provided the editor with much exact information of the English Burying Ground as she knew it in her childhood. Acknowledgement of this courtesy is hereby made with appreciation.

The Records of Christ Church

According to Mrs. Forman, the old-time funerals were accompanied on foot by pall-bearers, who wore scarfs of white linen, each scarf containing sufficient material to make, later, a shirt for the wearer. The Records of Christ Church, Vol. 1, page 188, also bears testimony to this custom in the recollections (there given) of Miss Elizabeth Shepherd. The scarfs were fastened on the right shoulder with black ribbon or crepe and tied on the left side. A bier was used and the body carried by bearers and followed by a procession of mourners, who entered the grounds by the gate in the north fence. In Mrs. Forman's childhood the children who played in the English Burying Ground amused themselves with exciting stories about ghosts and worked themselves up to a point where they ran homeward rapidly if dusk came on them unawares.

The entries in the Sexton's Record have been copied verbatim, although it is evident that many names are spelled incorrectly. The correct form is frequently difficult to determine. In the first place two of the sextons were born in England and took liberties with the letter "ll". Secondly, these men, being English, were unfamiliar with many of the names in the Hudson valley (of French, Dutch and German origin) and they and the two American-born sextons all spelled more or less phonetically. Frequently, therefore, strange results were produced and the editor leaves individual readers to decide uncertainties for themselves.

Special note should be made in regard to a few stones in the English Burying Ground.

I

A little to the south of the steps leading from the Academy street sidewalk to the main entrance of the present church is the stone of John Taylor, Attorney at Law, who died in 1805 (the earliest date borne by any stone in the English Burying Ground), aged thirty-six years. John Taylor was the eldest son of Dr. John Taylor of Bolton le Moors, Lancaster, England. In his young manhood the African slave-trade was the chief source of wealth in the city of Liverpool, near which he lived, and in 1787 Edward Rushton of Liverpool (born 1756, died 1814), published a series of poems directed against the trade. John Taylor's spirit, also, was stirred by the immorality of slavery and in protest against Liverpool's acquiescence in the practice he emigrated to the United States. He died of yellow fever in New York City, September 11, 1805, and was buried there. For the stone placed at his grave the poet, Rushton, wrote the lines, quoted below, which were printed in an edition of Rushton's poems that was published in London in 1824. This stone was ultimately removed from John Taylor's grave in New York and brought to Poughkeepsie by relatives who had taken up residence there.

Rushton's lines are:

Far from his kindred, friends, and native skies,
Here, mouldering in the dust, poor Taylor lies;
Firm was his mind, and fraught with various lore,
And his kind heart was never cold before.
He loved his country—loved that spot of earth
Which gave a Hampden, Milton, Bradshaw, birth;
But when that country, dead to all but gain,
Bow'd her base head and hugg'd the oppressor's chain,
Loathing the abject scene, he droop'd, he sigh'd,
Cross'd the wild waves, and here untimely died.
Stranger, whate'er thy country, creed, or hue,
Go, and like him the moral path pursue;
Go, and for freedom every peril brave,
And nobly scorn to hold, or be a slave.

II

The monument on Christ Church Square, bearing the unusual inscription: "My dear Friend Willoughby Died 1827", attracted in late years more or less attention. Nothing was known to explain the inscription and only diligent enquiry by the editor established the facts in regard to it. Briefly, the story behind it is that in the reign of Queen Anne an English regiment, sent to the West Indies, numbered a Willoughby among its officers. Descendants of this officer remained in the West Indies and finally in the early part of the nineteenth century one of them, Elijah Willoughby, born in 1793, came to Poughkeepsie. Here he formed an intimate friendship with Samuel Bulkley Ruggles, a friendship marked by a David-and-Jonathan quality of attachment and sentiment. Willoughby, a youth whose face was fair and refined and whose nature was gentle, removed to New York about 1821, as did Ruggles also. The latter (upon whom Yale, his alma mater, conferred the degree of LL.D.) became in due course a prominent and influential member of the New York bar.

The New York Evening Post of September 15, 1829, contains this notice: "This morning after a short and severe illness, Elijah Willoughby in the 37th year of his age." The Poughkeepsie Journal of September 23, 1829, says: "Died. On the 15th instant in the city of New York Mr. Elijah Willoughby, formerly of this village." The Secton's Record under the year 1829 bears the entry: "Mr. Willoughby, in plot no. 58." These references combine to correct the error in the inscription on the monument which gives the year 1827 when it should have given 1829.

Willoughby's body was brought to Poughkeepsie and interred in the English Burying Ground, he having been a parishioner of the English Church while in Poughkeepsie. His friend, Samuel B. Ruggles, erected the monument at his grave and perpetuated the memory of their friendship in the exquisitely simple inscription which has since appealed to the sentiment and feeling of so many.

III

Just west of the monument to Willoughby, in plot number 61, is a group of stones marking the graves of members of the Gunn family. The head of this family, Abel Gunn of New Milford, Conn., was a veteran of the Revolutionary War, who came to Poughkeepsie in the seventeen-nineties. He died on February 9, 1842, in his eighty-eighth year and the Poughkeepsie Journal of February 16, 1842, contains an obituary of him which reads thus:

"Died.—Another patriot gone. Died in this village on Wednesday last, Mr. Abel Gunn, a soldier of the Revolution, in the 88th year of his age. Mr. Gunn was under the personal command of Washington during all the early part of the war and engaged in most of the actions that marked the disastrous campaigns of 1776, from the defeat of the Americans on Long Island, and their retreat through New York and New Jersey into Pennsylvania. He was in the party that crossed the Delaware with Washington the night of the memorable 25th of December, 1776, and captured the Hessians at Trenton; was also one of the party that overturned the statue of George Third in New York at the commencement of the war in 1775. He had been for more than fifty years a resident of this town, and for the past thirty years an exemplary member of the Episcopal Church. He was buried with military honors."

The Records of Christ Church

Abel Gunn was a descendant of a family established in Connecticut in the seventeenth century. His wife was Lucy Wakeley and his children were: Samuel (1778-1863), Apphia (1780-1849), Joseph (1786-1861), Elizabeth (1795-1863), Abel, Jr., (1800-1875). The family was distinguished by a marked strain of musical ability. Abel Gunn, Jr., was an infant phenomenon, becoming organist of Christ Church at the age of nine and continuing in that position for fifty years as the leading musician of Poughkeepsie. He and his brothers, Samuel and Joseph, built organs, made violins (which were instruments of much more than local value and reputation) and all three played. Some of the weaknesses often associated with the artistic temperament clung to the Gunn genius but the old Revolutionary soldier and his children, taken as a household unit, were a picturesque feature in the village life of Poughkeepsie in the first half of the nineteenth century. They lived in an ancient frame dwelling on the southeast corner of Academy and Church streets and the house was furnished with things which would now be reckoned among the rarest of colonial antiques.

The sixth rector of Christ Church, the Rev. Barzillai Bulkley, married Mary Gunn of New Milford, Conn., and his call to Christ Church in 1806 was probably due in some measure to Abel Gunn's connection with the parish.

IV

In the northwest corner of Christ Church Square, in what was plot No. 4 in the days of the English Burying Ground, stands the monument to the memory of the seventh rector of Christ Church, the Rev. John Reed, D.D. The inscription on the four sides of this monument are:

East face.—"Sacred to the memory of John Reed, D.D., Rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, from August 10, 1810, to July 6, 1845. A learned and judicious divine, a devoted and affectionate pastor, a faithful friend of the poor, and a pattern of wisdom and obedience in all the duties of the Christian life."

West face.—"John Reed, D.D., born June 4, 1777, died July 6, 1845.

North face.—"Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Susan, wife of the Rev. Dr. Reed, rector of Christ Church in this village, whose life was adorned and death made happy by all the social and Christian graces. She died August 31, 1832, in the 48th year of her age."

South face.—"Sacred to the memory of Elizabeth, second wife of the Rev. John Reed, D.D. She died May 8, 1858, in the 80th year of her age."

PART IV

REGISTER OF CONFIRMATIONS

IN THE

PARISH OF CHRIST CHURCH

POUGHKEEPSIE
NEW YORK

1846-1916

EDITORIAL PREFACE

Owing to the lack of an episcopate, confirmation was unobtainable in America in the colonial period and after the War of the Revolution, when the episcopate was established, the rite was laxly administered for many years.

The Journal of the Convention of the Diocese of New York shows that from 1805 to 1855 thirteen occasional visitations were made to Christ Church for the purpose of administering confirmation. After 1855 visitations were annual. Prior to 1846 the parish register contains no entry of the names of persons confirmed. After 1846 names were entered with care.

A register of communicants was begun in 1846 by the Rev. Homer Wheaton, which was continued by the Rev. Samuel Buel to 1859. From 1859 to 1905 the rectors of Christ Church failed to maintain such a list and many persons have thus been identified with the parish as devout and devoted members whose names it is now impossible to gather together for permanent record.

In 1905 the editor of The Records of Christ Church compiled (with the sanction of the Rev. Alexander G. Cummins, rector) a communicant list, based upon an exhaustive canvas of the personnel of the parish at that date. The list included the names of persons confirmed in Christ Church and of those communicants who had entered the parish by letter of transfer. It has been subjected to annual revision since 1905.

The record presented here does not include the names of persons received into Christ Church as communicants from other parishes. Because of the circumstances stated above a complete list of such individuals could not be made.
